or an Eligible Counterparty Client to request recategorization as a Client that benefits from a higher degree of protection.

5.2 The Firm will therefore notify a client that is categorized as a Professional Client or an Eligible Counterparty of its right to request a different categorization whether or not the Firm will agree to such requests. However, the Firm need only notify a client of a right to request a different categorization involving a lower level of protection if it is prepared to consider such requests.

5.4 The Firm may, either on its own initiative or at the request of the Client concerned: (1) treat as a Professional Client or a Retail Client a client that might otherwise be categorized as a Per Se Eligible Counterparty; (2) treat as a Retail Client a client that might otherwise be categorized as a Per Se Professional Client; and if it does so, the client will be re-categorized accordingly.

(2) This agreement must specify the scope of the re-categorization, such as whether it applies to one or more particular services or transactions, to one or more types of product or transaction or to one or more rules.

5.7 (1) In accordance with the principle 'communications with clients', if the Firm at its own initiative re- categorizes a client in accordance with this section, it will notify that client of its new category under this section. (2) If the Firm already has an agreement with the client, it will also consider any contractual requirements concerning the amendment of that agreement.

5.8 The ways in which a client may be provided with additional protections under this section include re-categorization: (1) on a general basis; or (2) on a trade by trade basis; or (3) in respect of one or more specified rules; or (4) in respect of one or more particular services or transactions; or (5) in respect of one or more types of product or transaction.

5.9 If the Firm becomes aware that a Client no longer fulfils the initial conditions that made him/her/them eligible for categorization as an Elective Professional Client, the Firm will take the appropriate action.
